

Ahhhh, the new website is starting to take shape... with the initial dose of content in place, it's time to try a post in this blog area. I'll likely be moving my blogging operations from LiveJournal and perhaps even closing an ancient, orphaned blog for my new home here. Then again, with blogs as part of Tribe, MySpace, etc. (all good ways to plug ECC shows); perhaps this will just shift the source of syndication here.

It's embarrassing just how long the link-rotted old site has limped along. But finally, soon, it will get the retirement it should have gotten years ago.

- TradeMark G.