

The Evolution Control Committee... in a psychedelic rock show?

Why not? "The weirder, the better" as psych-rock band Floorian put it to us, describing how they'd like their album release show to be. This Saturday's show celebrates their release of their new album Cosmosiac , and jangly popsters Psychic Wheels are also on the bill. Floorian's been around since 1997, refining their sound into "an ideal late-night listening experience" (as The Big Takeover described their previous album).

A TradeMark observation: This show has a dangerous range, in a good way... in Europe, ECC frequently shared the bill with a wide variety of bands in many genres. In the USA, it's often much narrower. Nice to get on a local bill like this. :-)

I can tell you that The ECC will bring the VidiMasher 3000. I can't tell you just what you'll hear come out of it. This is the last ECC show for the near future.
